Mother Rachel little Emma Charlie and the girl are all sick what do you think of that? I have to be nurse cook baker what a fity you aint here I children whipper and maid of all workfind it excellent exercise but that is all I can say for it Mother begins to think I am a firstly nice sort of a girl after all a little too sassy- that's all - Let me whisper in your lar that my shrewish propensities are not at all diminished by my visit to Tessey There but I find them of great use in keeping the children straight - everything can be put to some good use you What a delightful letter that was you wrote me last I could almost imagine I daw you (dough up to the elbows - flour all over your hair I whiskers, giving your directions in the Cooking department Fractions for the future I imagine - When I received that letter I was sexted in Cersey Those with the gloomy mountains all round me I wish you could go there it is The most delightful stoot in the world and the inhabitants are certainly the most hospitable people I ever met. So much gemine kindness ab them you feel at perfect lade in their company Rachels lincle) Called for me to take a side with hem, we went about

We brought our hearts safely back with our other baggage the the beauty tried to be irresistible - Do tell me friend what did you mean by that verse commencing But of to feel another Snower"? I don't flatter myself I can be the "flower" you cherish for that heart of theme "- The more ponder the more I'm mystefoid You know what woman's curiosity is therefore of Horatio interpret for a child of earth language to far beyond her ken -How truly glad I am to find you have become so much happ My heart bled on reading your first letter-but now when I think of you I see your face radiant with joyous smiles - ah that little blind tyrant - he can raise us to the summit of earthly pelicity or sink no into the black depths of despair may you never descend the ladder my dear dear friends - You are very kind to devote so much time to translating German for me - take care that you don't make a mistake and give it to some of my very dear friends also very fond of the German translations. I suspect you are getting fond of New York for the Tweeks have llapsed and Philadelphi is not yet brightened by the senshine of your presence - We need Sunshine just now for it is raining most dismally - Guess where Emma and I went yesterday? now don't be shocked. Twas only to the fortane tellers. The told us a great rigmarole and actually showed us the gentlemen we were are to marry If mine had been old I ugly I might have been tempted to doubt her power but such a handsome love enspering count -tenance. I could not doubt but I could love the reality of such a picture You must go to her when you come to the city just to see if she'll show you she right one Versey Shore. Dec. 15th 1848? Rasch, my friend. I have now been in my new home almost three months, and in my leisure moments have written to the friends I love, telling them of my happiness and showing them they were not forgotten, your turn came long ago my friend, and for many reasons I am ashamed of neglecting you, yet I hope you do not feel that I have intentionally done so, it was my intention to have dent you a letter while you were in the city, I wrote to 6 mma requesting. the would let me Know when you arrived, I did not hear of your visit housever until you returned to New York, Emb time I suppose was accupied with other and more important Lece Subjects, And now Rasch without further ofoology let me talk to you as in alder times, we have been friends togeather for many years, as long as I can recollect, I am fure now that we are both to happy mothing shall estrange us - Your letter I reco'd about ten days ago, many thanks for it, I was writing to you when I got it, and should have finished the letter but was interrupted by a call from one of my friends who wished me to go home with her and spend the day. The would take no excuse do I went with her and did not return home for almost a week, indeed March I am I gear becoming quite a gossip, and yet I cannot help it, the ladies dend for me, and I must go. Tast Friday Dr Davidson, Rachels lincle) Called for me to take a side with him, we went about the just now. If we say it is some in three miles up the river, Stopped at The Cookes the gentleman Neddy was farming with, there we had Something to eat, and I after the Dr had attended to some business returned home, I Saturday was a most delightful and as Glo was at liberty to he thought he would hire a waggon and take me out, we po colled for Mip Egner a lady from Philadelphia who is spend the the winter in Versey Those, we wrapped ourselved in buffalo V robed and Started in Style. He had a delightful side dip on miles up etippense valley, I wish Rasch you colald once m De our beautiful country nothing I am Jure can exceede the y grandure of our mountains, on the Soft beauty of the valley of may I not hope to have a visit from you this next summer the I will addure you that you will leave with reluctance, fishing in hunting, riding, music and Lociety of the very best Kind to are the inducements of offer, besides the pleasure of escor to ling Emma and Ginnie and the felicity of seeing your p friends Geo and Rose, are they sufficient? if so when I go v to house Keeping of wile fit up a soney little room for Rasch. In I much go on with my weekly proceedings, Junday & spen a wish Sister Catharine, and monday of attended a party to given by the Brifes Tomb, I had to go wishout Geo very " much against my will, but he was called on to go to Bill a sport on business and aid not return tite 120 clock at t night. The nest day of a ccompanied him to the same plat of in the evening we attended a lecture given by a lady on Threnology and animal magnetism, the nest day we return to home in the snow, I was in hoped we would have som sleight but I fear this winter will not give at sufficient snow Last ovening I attended a party at his John Gambles where them I met a very pleasant young gent from Phila. perhaps you are acquainted with him, his name is Hutchinson. thom I have just record a letter from my dear friend Emma, at twas written on Sunday, The gives me a scoulding for ut, not writing to her more frequently. I know not what I is whale do, here before me are no less that I letters to answer, high wish I had you here to help me Rasch, you might purhaps side and wer Emmas for me, and yet no, that I must answer tell myself as I understand her frey feeling even better than you. You Know Rasch that Em and I have been and Stile the mare as distert, none of this mondensical girl confidence, struthat exists for months, and then flies to the nest that may a, pattract, but the friendship of heart and feeling that continued y I Rinthrough life, Om has told me of the promise she has made you of sets become you trife, lat me my dear friend wish you all the hap g youking to know you must enjoy when that promise is fulfilled, her do assure you that was limina my sister and I know but a place difference between her and my dear Ginnie, there is no early man I am acquainted with I would move gladly gincher of than Horatio Baldwin. You know I am sincere don't you Go Rasch! Now if you should not like this Confidence going to far as it has Rasch, (but I know better then to think for an instant that it will displease you) you would deprive me of the pleasure for thaning you happiness—as you and Em have mine.

I heard from Par Coggins last week he teles me all my friends are well, to you may sest assured yours are. It is are well, to you may rest assured yours are. I cannot tell you how impatient I am to see all the dear ones at ho oh it deems so long since I left them. We expect to visit Inow the city in April, you much try to make arangements to the just now. It we say it is some to be there at the same time, what a happy miny group me'le be. This is a met disagreeble day and looks as if the Dun would never shine again. Tis mast time for Gao to come home to dinner, I am seated at the window looking for him I always write wish my paper in my lap, that accounts for its coulep appearance, Vurile to Emma, Ginie & Minis this afternoon what whale I say for you? To you like New York any better that you did, have you as made any lady acquaintances; and are you happy there w brosher is with you please remember me Kindly to him ale And now Rasch let me thank you, you a fresh Oucord from you a couple of days after I was married to in the shape of a most beautiful bracelet, it has been much I admired by all who see it, I value it I assure you took for its beauty and the given Dake I cannot thank you be in terms I should like to but alshough homely you know be my heart feels ale I say: must now bid you good bye, Lev Co wishes to be remembered to you, write soon Rasch & Jam gver your friend be Rosalie Bat ep

Philadelphia Dec 24th 1845 Sunday right almost 120 Clock Oh how sneaking mean I feel setting down here at this time of night to write a letter which should have been answered long ago - If you were only here I should most Certainly go down on my kneed and with better and penitent tears epclaim forgive me this once and in the fedure Il deluge you with more than you can read . Omma (who is setting by me writing at the vale of a steam car tells me that you feel hurt that I have not written _ Now shame on you nut to doubt your old friend or believe for a moment that mud intended to use you unkindly - "Tis Christmas time you who know and I have been ruining the stores buying dolls rubbons muslins and everything else for the lovely little beings who are the light of my lyes and the joy of my heart. (Bless this pen) Now these dolls clothes had to be made and , se consequently I had to make them and truly Horateo who outded myself - Oh if you could only behold thes publicatiful workmanship of my hands you would Wepclaim enraphured what manner of being have we here - Then I have been making myself a dress gud I was thinking how nicely it fit when George Emerick asked me if that was a straight jacket I had on" I know after all this you are not surprised have not written that I think of you every day - Emma & talk of you whenever we meet and the if you could only hear one half the pretty things we say I'm afraid 391 would not feld state just now. If so say it is some wo jour

I should not wonder one bit if my letter would be cold for in surely its writer is - but the benignant smile beaming from your eye will warm language whose only chill is in the atmosphere of a cold room - To old are we growing in each other's friendship that I almost feel privileged to begin my letters "dear Rasch" - I wonder if Em would wool me if I did? _ Ah Rasch and so you have sloten the jewel of in my easket of friendship - But I am so happy - to think That my own dear friends Rasch and Omma are linked in loves sweet chain. That soon no earthly power can man their happiness and that the air of Heaven may not to heavily fanthe brow of my boxom's friend No longer doesn sheart ache to see her sad face and mournful smile - Hoap: Theness beams from her eye and breather from her lips - and her whole manner speak of a mind at case - Can I doubt the future when I look upon your happy present ? Two young beings united by a pure and holy attachment stepping forth into the world together with a mutual con fidence in each other What lovelier what more beautiful fucture can be firesented to your fancy? Oh may no blight chile your joys but may life frass along calmly as the xilent start and with them may your final resting place be

This Christmas morning and silently are the hour gliding till similated wakens the sleeping city from its slumbers— Children will seize their stockings with wild delight to see what that kind Belshnickle has brought Hoena while those of larger growth awake with how much greater expectations perhaps to see them dashed ere eve and

I in their stead the bitter lears of disappointment bursting from their hearts - May your Christomas be one of mere riment and May every passing Christmas find Your Emma and yourself as Kind as happy in the married state as in eighteen and forly eightwith Bless your heart I hope when you write to me your wout have Rut to stop because your pen is so bad you cant forde me for such at present is the predicament of your loer devoted friend Two

Philadelphia Sanuary 21st 1849_ Sunday Evening -This night last week you wrote to megyou say without having any ideas and I am going to do likewide. That I have not the 100th part of an idea in my head. therefore of Daniel be levient You provoking dinner talking So much about the opera when you know it is my lender point, You deserve punishment therefore listen calmly to your Sentence I decree that you Horatio Nelson Baldwin sojourner in Sotham do depart from thence for the city of brotherly live on or about the 16th of March nept - I set this time that you may suffer more acutely for your imprudence as my very disagreeable sister & brother Rose & George will be on in that nonth - If you disober the fromms of myself will utterly anni = hilate you when you do make your appearance -How lonely I feel tonight Rasch - Emma was with me all night but she would not stay today and I'm all alone _ Oh howmuch is contained in that little word my friend I'm not without companions but my soul yearns for a kindred spirit am lonely for none like you and Em seem to enter into my belings and give me credit for the better parts of my nature end yet how stranges that all have my bad qualities by heart - Not all either for Rachel is always Rind & affectionality gence envagnes vome on angers

Now shame on you virginie Diens for writing in this man by ner to a young gentleman whose style of is so different will Roasch my friend my brother I know you love to hear from me ful but there is too much restraint in your letters for you to how to pleasure in writing them I would love to have in you will an adviser for I know that you are capable of giving as fell I good advice as most men who have numbered twice for your yeard - Blame me when wrong and appland when wh right initiale me into some of your ancient love in short It write to me every thing within the range of my intelles the that you feel inclined to say to me - then surely you om will find no difficulty in writing to your old friend Gin a Now I expect your next letter will be a perfect specimen. Who it not too disappointing Rasch that those Germania a Chapt book it into their Dutch heads not to give anymore is Concerts? George Emerick took me on Thursday evening pu to hear Mr & Miss Hohnstvek - I was very much pleased how but they could not beat our favorites - I really felt as top tho' I was in dream land that night and the Jakey who I Lize's at Jones were some earthly mortals who had high intruded on regions too bright for their limited com: Mu -prehensioned -Oh Radeh but it would do your heart good to hear Em talk about you Truly is womand love unfathornable This is a lovely world strewer with so marry broy lu bright flowers - but you Rasch have chosen a Rose en without a thorn - a heart capable of deep and lasting " feelings = a mind full of pure and noble impulsed - Why to do I tele you so many things that you already know you you will ask - Because tis sweet to praise those we love to ingleel that we have added friendships mike to the gratifiex twifeelings of the lover. He look at your miniature together whenever I go to see her and truly many are the kesses have to bestow on the insensible glass to please her with the modesty modesty I week for you in sack cloth and hypermine- alack that I should ever see the day of tola-Da young gentleman I had been kessing, his minuature ines Every page of the Noetes that I read mon ami I find. anin seen additional cause to thank you for your kindness . The ymoris most delightful reading and some of the language wentrarticularly of the Ettrick Thephend is beautiful - But blewhow often do I wish for you at my elbow to give me Hipplanations with regard to books and expressions with the Johieh I am not familiar - I can imagine how de halghtful it much be to you to read it for you know I must necessarily lose a great many withy points rom ignorance - I like your impudence in making In the judge of our letters. A very impartial judge she be truly - our little Emmie had recovered but out her forehead badly against the stove this evening my near, and genero thoughts borne on angels

Low and his family are doing well - and Ned has not yet returned to pay his bet there I have answered you questions in the order in which they were asked " Sue and Hearry are well - Sue seceived a letter from Rose on Friday she was very well and asked after you - Rachel sends you much love (written by request) - My letter is written closer than yours and thin the has rather more in it so I think I may wentere to close it before the freeze (for the fire has gone out) I know you for will write to me down as a reward for my punctual for in answering Dotre amie Sinnie -

Philadelphia March 4th 49 Sunday Clorning Co, Sir you just write for practice de you? That but your a precious saucy piece of goods to write such a thing as that to me practice indeed. I suppose you never have a chance of practicing in any other quarter - but I forgive you on account of your tender years may hap when he grows older hell know better than to talk that way to a lady, to day, nothing of telling her that lating is not with you as with her the summen bonum of existence" I have a slight notion that you intend to take up your permanent residence in that city of operas - here have you been away from us Lines the 10th of January and my Lister Rosie will be back again among the mountains before you are again among us-that is unless you change your mind and come before the Dotto Do try to get here - one or loen two weeks sooner cannot make To very much deference - In sitting in the dining over fa house in 12 that I doors above Brown and the young lady I am with is also wreting to an acquaintance in New York - The is a very sweet girl Kasch - Fall slender, and graceful looking, with eyes that rival the celestial blue of heaven, a laugh like an angelscheeks like the downy freach - and a brow where entellect sits otheroned - that is my friend Rash - caust recognize her? Hasch I have been reflecting, and The come to the conclusion hat tis better to let the heart revel in merrement than pine en 'aducts therefore I intend that my thoughts in future Shall all e "couleur de rose" - that the blues shall all be amoked out of heir former citadel my heart, and gentle thoughts borne on angels state just now. It we say it is some in wings shall prepare the home of happineds for the Juture At has been so long since I have had an opportunity of writing to you that it seems as the I had neglected you but I understand too well the value of your friendship to true it thus lightly - A know that you think too highly of my ording w abilities and that the future will open eyes now so blind but it still of have the sweet consolation of knowing that your prais to is sincere and that you and On ean appreciate thoughts the ty I could not breather to others - How sweet to know that then A are hearts. whose sympathising throb can keep pace with min to Friends who will love and Cherish me to life's latest hour - at Rusch when I shink of your fecture life with leme of assign me says what is a questionable word- myself a very conspicuous place in the group - don't think for to leave the spinster out on no - Ill always be popping in go to see what you have good for dinner - or something as to important for you know " Eating is the summen bonum to de Em and I met Maria Mobeley this afternoon and really and I felt disappointed - The is much older looking than she the was and her manner very much changed - Coldly she but shook hands with us, the with a smile that continued for (without intermission) till we parted a little odd cackle has a yankee addition perhaps relieved the monohony of the seem the and am and I have both been so delighted with its an very fine effect that we have been imitating her liver since Twas better perhaps that you were not at our supper on Rose's birthday for now you can let your imagination be as extravagant as you please on the subject - smack your life and think how good the supper war walty with the Fisher and thream of the dance - I regretted your absence very very much and should most certainly have I sent you an invitation if I had thought there was a possibility of your being able to come to But I Ido wish you would come to the city now while slush and mud beign triumphant in our thorough fared. 12th Lt to is particularly bad and I imagine of can see you In trying to fick your way in your well blacked books on ht top how (do you do the like?) and think yourself will to rewarded by the smile of your lady fair What infature the tron! I dabor under a disadvantage in not being wat home to night as I have not your last tetters with stigme to andwer - Never mind Il talk you to death when theyou come - tem is closing her letter the fire has grave to sleep and the lateness of the hour warms us is to do the same therefore good night my dear friend in let hope nextle in they bosom, then will they slumber be easy apind they dreams ever bright and beautiful - the spirits of whe absent will hover round they couch and their voices re weather for the a prayer to the throne of Frace - of prayers we rom sinner's lips can avail you anything, great will be your compines for never does my head rest on my fillow without the blessing of School being invoked on my friends Rasch

Philadelphia, April 3rd 49 Sympathise with me, Rasch, my friend for I'm alone and in sadness - Rosie left this morning and now for oh! how long I can communicate with her only by lame written words - Tis sad to part for a few short mouths, but how doubly So for an uncertain length of line You know tho; better than I can tell you, how the very heart strings seem born asunder by these cruel separations - I have placed Rose above the world she is like the wandering comet bringing brightness in her train and again carrying it with her afar and I like some solitary Star watch and rejoice at her coming and fine in my loneliness when her boved face is turned away. Rasch do you remember that while we were at Gersey Shore see On commenced one of her letters with a remark on autuma? It struck me as very pretty and suppose that is why I remember it then we had the long cold winter to anticipate-now bright ofpring foretells with her garlands of flowers the gloriaus Summer time - I always hail the Summer with joy - I mourn its decay, and dream of green trees, waving grass and merry piemies all thro' The drear Minters I suppose of course you will take Two Three weeks for holidays this Summer and if you do they will hardly be spent in the vecinity of that same Gotham - Then I hope to have some pleasure in seeing you and not have the enjoyment of meeting marred by knowing that you are going to whist the just now. I say it is some to fall. The phlendid off tomorrow or in a few days to those New York car bake ovens. I know Emis blue lyes are sparkling in anticipation and ours of Lober grey" will beam in blek I appreciate your kindness Rasch in advising me with hit regard to bee & Harry - I don't think and would not willingly believe that Ene intends to be unkend, but there for is so little sympathy between us that she is continual (unintentionally I hope) wounding my feelings - The has said things and before others two that might create doubts of my affection for Trade, and that is not last forgiven for it touches one of the most densitive choro of my nature But her manner is so variable that it is not easily understood - The has been very kind to me tately and when she is so I like her very much I called there this evening and found her suffering with the face ache the wore her fring bonnet yesterday which I shink is rather impredent so early in the seaso The sends her love and says she will look out for the cake - Our dear kind on walked all the way down This lovening, with not 15 minutes to stay, to speak a word of comfort to me Hers is a boul that can sympathise with the griefs of others a tongue whose tones from balm upon the bruised heart and dry the tears in the mourners eye - Oh Rasch how bright how hapfy in the dim distance shines your future - how like a summer cloud floating thro' heaven will be you calm course thro' life I If the earnest hopes of a friend her heartfelt wishes for your happiness

Can avail you aught none can be more sincerely and fruly given than those of your unworthy friends and clannot write you a long letter to night basch for my reart is heavy commenced writing yesterday morning but was too sick with grief to finish - Mother & Rachel of wish to be remembered with love to you and now Good night Mount dreams and happy waking hours be yours_

Philadelphia April '49. To Mr Horatio, you insist on my not answer ing your letters, do you? Because perhaps the hourd are more pleadant y employed" very well sir, that will do very well for you, but if you want yours more 'fleadanthy employed" than in reading there you will have to stop writing, for as long as I received letters I shall torture you with replies - There's fair warning for you - I may as well say all the cross things at once and now I want to know how you could lie calmly on your hillow and sleep . - after calling envy a feminine quality for shame! after all your study of books how little have on learned of the female heart when you wither such a eatherish sentiment. Such a scandal on The sep- advise on my friend not to let your sentiments become known or on will have the spirits of the feminines dead and alive in arms Then poor little you - alas. alas! -I have just received a very sweet letter from Nose the rends word to Om that you are well, because the poor soul! toesint get to hear from you often - dear kindhearted Clase the describes a walk she took at sundet and it has let me almost crazy to go to her- I think Rasch that your would ly og that country, for you are fond of nature and olitude (are you not?) How delightful then to climb to the mountains row and watche the rising or setting sun - I have very lettle rospect of going up this lummer yet of shall hope on, something it nay turn up get. How expressive, I hear you say -That just now. If y say it is some to fall, The phlendid

Gunday evening, May oth This night two weeks agr, mon ami, I commenced this letter to you , and determined I am that it shall be signed and sealed ere my head presses the fillow. I hope you don't think I have forgotlow you not so, but Tose's visit has got me so out of the habit of the letter writing, that I have become Shamefully negligent May has come Rasch and now I suppose it will not be long before you came too If you don't arrive before the 12 th you must send me a long letter for a birth day presen for verily I shall be 18 on that day - How old I am gesting - 18 long years have rolled over me leaving the remen we - brance of Joys that I've tasked and a smaller share of earthly sorrows Than I have deserved. The blessings of kind parents, few but I hope frue friends have been mine, yet I feel mysely Still fining for an unterown something - indescribable - unatta able - Tell me oh! filosopher, my cure - Day if from the deep research of books, from the reasonings of thy brain, thou can't explain the disease and show the semedy -Then will I bless thee with all my soul and crown the with the lawel wreath of bietory - _ _ Poor crazy In There is very little news at present in this lett city of ourd but I suppose if there was lover so much it would be John Thompson's news to you. The reporter at 12 th and Brown It's leaves me nothing to say "but the silly emanationed of my own brain _ I have laid by the Nocted for the present Rasch to read Macdulay Heistory of England which I find very interesting - Have read it yet? - Brother Peter is herrying me to get done shat he may retire for an writing in his room. To I shall have to promise you a longer and more interesting letter negt time and bid you Good night. the May angels, each with Emmas face keep thee and quard thee from lovery ill and gentle breezes waft thee soon but o her loving heart whose every wish is for thy happiness at every prayer for thy well being - Ever your friend ple Brother Geter will bring this letter to New York but am will not be able to call on you tile he returns from en Bostow which will be in about a weekyou. mo the w Se m 7

Philadepphia June 26th , 849. Am I negligent mon ami? Dout think do for I intend now to make up for lost time by writing you the greatest regmarole you love reade - Ochally Hasch of think luring this warm weather my brains must have melted and rozed out at my land, for I've not a cent's worth of wit and no more energy than Grimalkin purring by the winter fire - All the news in this big city is on has entirely necessed din vere cleaning house, and it's very warm - which latter of nagine is no news at all as I see by the paper that you holor Tothamites are actually going to gravy" if you get into that greaty and fluid state I should call you bamb gravy, but I suppose you would wish to be placarded fluid up = rack of Wedsh Muthon byears old" Friday July 6th - all the carpets are nailed down - scrubbing nekets and whitewash bruskes all out of sight so now we ill have an uninterrupted and confortable that; wont we tasch? and I will tell you all about our drive on the issahiceon and my letter from Place and livery thing else on don't know - The most important (my letter) arrived this norning in which lose speaked of you and your letter as ho' you had warmed her very soul and made it overflow with a gush of affection for her absent friends_ The 'eems to feel much concern for us on account of the Choleran none to I suppose than we who are in the very midst f it - Tis strange with what Jeelings we anticipate danger et how careless we became when it is at handostate just now. I hope you two "boss bakers" (ahem) enjoyed your ride as much as Emma, Rachel and I did ours yesterday on the most romantie of all romantic Streams, the Missahierand immortalized by the immortal Lippard and by the gentle will sight of innumerable lovers. But ah how little interest with would the stream have possessed had it not been fording The romantice youth we met on its borders. Emagene inthe Rasch a youth with large blue eyes, a mouth & teeth Inim divine had it not been for the enormous moustache with that advened the lip, a fancy colored shirt and a with little black dog, that he loves better than anything in the world, running behind him - To crown all Casch he will is worth bless my heart I heard how much but the Sum was too big for my lard - This gent drives lovery day In to the Missahicean with the little black dog aforesaid in to indulgo of suppose in somantic dreams - Isaac our had driver has known him for years and he did him the honor of introducing him to us - He did not take my MI fancy and entre nous I don't think I rook his, so I long wandered off and enjoyed in that delightful solitum with no living sound save the birds a pleasure too he egginsite, how thrilling for earth - I could have imagine with myself in the land of beatitude and deemed my littles Songsters some distant heavenly chois - of Rasch if the earth is so lovely what must be Paradise - how I may long for the groves of heaven and loverlasting uninterrupt and happeness - by pleasure basted not long for soon for I saw the whole party adonis and little black dog to included coming towards me -

Toughkeepsie August 22nd 1849-Wednesday morning -Did you not think it very strange in me Radeh not to andwer your letter last week? Do Jorgive me for I knew you would get Emmais letter before mino would reach you and that berrible Frederic affair had made me so miserable that I could do nothing-I was going to devote Sunday morning to you but he was ill and sent for me - Brothers Low and Geter came after me and made me go home with them and concluded it would be best for me to leave the city-till the pur fellow becomes susperate - (with brother Peter's Dister who resides here) on Sunday evening and our Monday at 11 o'clock & was Le in New York and remained there tile so'clocks in the afternoon. Did you not receive the note I sent you? There Master Rasch who confides in you more freely than Time Vierd: The worst of all is I expect Trake will arrive in Philadelphia to day and it is too hard to think I can't be with her - Toughkeepsie is truly a delightful village The houses are mostly of white frame with green shutters and some of them are beautiful. I have become acquainted with a very sweet girl and & we call ourselves consins because the is brother Ollers of cousin- The Johns and the Jacks as Brother Peser at. classifies then I have not yet seen but when I have made aquaintances among them you shall be edified. with a description - I feel as the I have been in State just now. Summit Cambria Co. Fa. Teb. 20th. 1800. Madch, my much valued friend. I have now been in my newhome four days, and from what I can judge in so short a time, like it very much, dear familiar faced come to my mind froshafed too often to allow me to be as happy as I could with, but time will I have no doubt remidy that, and make me what I wish to be, a happy wife content with the love and Jociety of my Justand. The Lady with whom we are boarding is the wife of the Suprentendent the Campbell, a kind good woman who does ell in her power to make us comfortable, we have a large pleas nt woom in the growt of the house, neathy furnished, where I can view the arrival and departure of the various travellers, at my listure, between the stitched for I do little else than sew and ice easite at present. The office will be in the house, so you see George ville not be away at all, and I will be always easy about him. Now don't you think I ought to be contented and happy March? certainly I ought, and I will be. The only thing I have to deplore is the want of good Society. Our journey was testions but as we arrived safely I was satisfied, we left home Justillay norning at Soclock and travelled without intermission, except to get our meals) 260 miled, 180 by the card and the west by stage. on Friday about Boclock loe got here tired enough I adduse you! from her doon honever, and have good accounts of them all. George is well and wished to be remembered to you, he entered whom the duties of his affice on the 21st which will be tomorrow ! The weather here is intendely cold, therehadeen sleighing ever since the first of December so you can judge for yourself. I suppose you would like to Know Something of the appearance and Situation of the place, I am almost afraid of doing injustre to the town, for you know this is an unfavorable season to my visit a country town, every thing looks gloomy, but I will do will my best and let you in imanagination view the scened ever predent in to me. The Summit as you know by its name is the highest par by of the mountain it his north well of Hollidaysburg I think, there is a fine fike running from the latter place to Chind burg 10 miles South of the Summit, and a good railroad the apposite direction. From my right I see a fine large stable (where they key the horsed March) and about a dozen frame housed. Opposite a the Small unfortending looking Store with John Jory frainted and one side, and a large file of Shingles in front of the door. On m left, is the principle feature of the Summit, the Railroad, when navigation afiend and the card are in motion Our Campbelle teles on it will Seem like another place, they have several Sadied from Thila who spend every summer with them and the house is crown with strangers, so I will not have a chance to be loved one thin How is Brother bollin? remember me to him if you please. When you write to Em tele her I have learned through his bampbell that I can come to the city often, and that once through the Summer Ges will be able to accompany me Oh Rasch I with you were here to talk me a little while, I am really lonesome, I have been reading Aurelian and am much interested, I export Thilada January 8th 163 My Dear Balderin The holiday week brought us very little new or interesting save a visit from our friends The and Leage Ball. They are both very well. I ime changes them not, the same warm hearts, the same Kind greeting, Oircumstances compelled them to pay a very short visit and they are again in New Gerning hans. How a true friend puts us in a good humor with all man-Kind. It is so pleasant to trust when we feel the rock is immorable. He have had mitter in its worst phase. Inow, Slush, fogs and druggles , he streets were full of Kennels-the ludies imprisoned. and fues and gus-light above par. The chapter of nevelties grows ever more meagre. Amusements are positively fled from us, that is amusement of a high grade. Ill. Uneson is lecturing at Sanson St. Hall. I was pleased with a concise refinition of Common Sense, which he gave last Quesday Evening The application of the intellect to a real and material result. It is broad generalizations set off by his poetic rein and his trenchant mit and quiet humor, furnish a delightful entertainment I searcely understand how he permits himself to be classed Inthe Tuey Stone and Horace Such as advocates of Abolitionism. Lectures when they are bad, are atominable and when good may intertain the most delicates and this is the only course of real merit that has been delivered here this winter. There weak, timorous, tiresom essays, which are doled out to you by emulous AM: reverend collegians and reformed rakes are past all endurance. Testimonials to British tars and generous humanity, regardless of nationon, ality and prejudice. I'm of your mind about quotations. Di Johnson Spoke of them in Complimentary phase, and on best authors have given us the example which supersedes all precept. I think there to be is very lettle solace in the supposed dignity of labor, The plain new fact of its necessity, is an unansurable argument with onen to be I am fully persuaded that I should be as happy and dignified in the enjoyment of elegant leasure, all logical prosess to the centrary of noturellustanding. Augels and minester of grace, defend us from the cant, that labor is the measure of dignity. We shall go back, in very that care to the days of Jack Cade and ignore half that gres I to make life beautiful and desirable. What is then left to do onn ding but wear the yoke with patience I have pulled against the bits the to my own discomfort and fretted in the harness to ser purposefe Thelein I am no better pleased with it now than then, but am if quieto in the thealdow - perhaps duller There is a feeling of desperate disregard which sometimes takes possession of us, and uce ful throws a soft oblinion over our troubles. To day is like unto ire det yesterday and tomorrow will come from the same alembio. The love very thing that should create energy sometimes beget apathy-Teple are foren prating of the future - prospective pleasures, happines success, riches - No thought for the present, while the heart is turning cold and hope defend is bitternen and agong Jah? give us the earnest of future happiness, give us forthold now and he nill gain strength for the years in store. Thilada June 10th 1855 Let me congratulate you upon the acquisition of a new inkestand, I too have a new one, with a capacious mouth and an excellent understanding . The inky fluid in its crystal bosom, is as placed as one of Old Walton's trust pools, and often I angle there for such small fish as I usually serve - by the way fuzin I like to fish with rock and hook in spite of the caustic anny definition, which some splenetic individual, has given of an of the fisherman. Olfor the Spring garden Water Works were constructed I spent many an how at the mouth of a creek, which emplied into the Schnightill, where their free tay her mi now stands. Good catfish, eels and an occasional silver ymir t the fish new the rewards. Hack! and Well a day! one goes fishing rarely now a days- One must get money and friends, days and nin golden Thinins and a that. I took a organ up the vine last week, in the clipper built steam bout in " (Veinder, which leaves Tairmount, bound for Manayout and; and intermediate ports. The nature is very high, or high that and the fairment locks cannot be opened and an immense fleet of coal boats have collected, in siting for the waters. Grat clubs are the fastion again, and a sort of Regalta beg came off. Thelre boats well manned dashing theo ugh the water made a very pretty panovama but as our staunch craft came through the billows, we set them rocking leke eggshells in a table bowl. Itan you a steam fire engine

amount you! I hope not. Olaying our your sleeple deluging your streets, disturbing your short boys and raising the ise of your Lunday papers - Great is the Young america, with in good earnest half a dozen of a those pretty top, which our ference display at triemmil parades. But we are too poor to buy it - Emply coffees and our July bills to pay - Chiladelphin is looking out for a loan. M. Comad has a great admiration for the abilitie of Mr. Wood and very naturally we do in Theladelphia as they do in New York. There is a painful apprehension with many that he lacks sound common sense, and is over zealous in trifling causes -Our Academy of Fine cuts is now holding its Exhibition In pictures by & mlouter of New York, a picture Ti by Rolhumel and a bronze Statue after Oradier and the noticeable novelties. A model of our Operations is exhibited, and it makes me mish it had a reality -The trustees announce that in ten days they will beak ground This a slight flower to of trumpels that caused no stars to fall, we shall not heed the cry of wolf till we see his onarling presence -We are congratulating ourselves upon the fine weather we here in to cool as October. and in fine. I do hope that you gathered about your Christmas fine in good health, and with the cheuful blage of content varnung your hearts - Is Emma well and Blanche? Gric to the gentle lady my want remembrances - and imo; tell mademoiselle that I will be as walke Melanethm to as possible. I could not dessipate the glown which took prosession of me on Christman Cre- You will plear suppor that I have a rowing fine in my grate - that I am sole, sleeplen lenant of the house - That I knock the asher from my cigar and sup that very plebeian drink whiskey punch. You will say, here are all the constituents of Garadin but mankind is person Just beyond caril - I admit - yet in the bright flames saw only phantons of dead years - wastest hours and broken resolutions - The humming wind in the chimney, recalled the grotes que story of Sintram and his wend parp. I would have given much to have shared staypu cijans and pot with you - and deante oblision to reflection Tranks to the potency of the punch - a misteners gathers pn mer there ghostly shapes and sleep sheets out all thought. The sun shines in the morning - so sing the aleas - and all honor melandrilie at night- I always enjoy omletter m and Mocha- which I dunk ala Françaire - I remember Christman day as intensely cold-very brilliant and very mindy-0 Hore you remarked the extraordurary prevalence of high tha winds - It is gratifying to the believes in old proverts . I recollect the ancient ballad sang- If Christmian day m Thursday be - a windy winter that year ye shall see - I went the out as the flyglkill in the morning - but skaling was almost impossible nette a tornado in your teeth- Thew was an unsual observance of the custom of exchanging gifts and Crory individual turned porter for the nance - bearing with him hearing looks of satisfactions, remembrances for howehold 200 deities. The weather at this season is too cold for murmingand the few individuals who undertook ragaries of that sort, where glad to abandow their whinivicul dresses at the first opportunity. We have had un lack of concerts-Thattery who I can only say seems to me a wonderful artist- and wher contrasts strongely with Goldschulk-

The me so placed the other so impressible and demonstrative a Madame D'angir, who sang with these two performes, is pronounced by abbet Emerick a glorious artiste and true pupil of the Italian Johns. Can de Wilhort pleased by the ed they profundity of her crinoline - An immen lady who sat in fint of me one evening - smiled the kindest approbation on the efforts of petite excellence and eat bon bons all the while. Albert is remarkably well this winter - we meet at least once a week- eat saedines and olives and compan experience. Those inexhaustible fun makers the Rarels gave us their annual visit-with no noretty but aspladel- a trifle eather broad than good- I beleiro Caquita and La Jota Aragones. and their best pieces I see that M. Wheately has been playing in Ring John in you leity - Have you seen him? Here the play was set not with every adjunct of art, and absolutely drew a paying audience for a month- This you will admit was something hitherto unchronicled - Modeite and tailors, Frisenes and Battiers a Paris are all in agritation-Crevoline and black lace one in great demand - The the 20th of January the Inauguration Ball at the Chica House will take place - all the patrons, have given their names and promise their presence to lend a lustre to the occasione Sans doute it will be a brilliant affair. The bounce is very elegant- ornamented in fresco and lighted by unmenso chandeline in the dane- Comy effort has been made to Seemo accountic effect - and us mechanical contrivance ometted
